1

PANTHER CANYON

Panther Canyon Trail begins near the headwaters of the Comal Springs emerging within the Balcones fault zone. The trail ascends the Balcones Escarpment into the Edwards Plateau under the shade of oaks, Ashe juniper, cedar elm and under-story trees including Mexican buckeye, kidneywood and Texas persimmon.

DISTANCE:
1 Mile

DRY COMAL CREEK

The Dry Comal Hike and Bike Trail winds through several different vegetation habitats: a savanna with prickly pear cacti and mesquite trees; an upland forest of old live oaks, Ashe juniper, cedar elm; and a riparian habitat including boxelder, hackberry and pecan trees.

DISTANCE:
2.25 Miles

3

FISCHER PARK

Stroll or run around the park on over two miles of greenway trails. Relax at the two fishing ponds, splash at the sprayground, enjoy the playgrounds or take in the dramatic views of New Braunfels from the 62-acre hill top park.

DISTANCE:
2+ Miles

1

OLD HANCOCK TRAIL

Great trail for hiking and horseback riding. Trail follows the lake line and has very little elevation gain. The trail is a good spot for beginner bicyclists who want to try going off-road for the first time.

DISTANCE:
3.5 Mile

2

MADRONE TRAIL

Nice and rocky 7.6 mile trail that winds it's way through a peninsula on Canyon Lake. This is a popular mountain biking trail as there are lot of rocky challenges. Cool off in the lake after a hike or ride. Park fee may apply.

DISTANCE:
7.6 Miles
